

Problem Statement

This dataset consists of tv shows and movies available on Netflix as of 2019. The dataset is collected from Flixable which is a third-party Netflix search engine.

In 2018, they released an interesting report which shows that the number of TV shows on Netflix has nearly tripled since 2010. The streaming service's number of movies has decreased by more than 2,000 titles since 2010, while its number of TV shows has nearly tripled. It will be interesting to explore what all other insights can be obtained from the same dataset.

Integrating this dataset with other external datasets such as IMDB ratings, rotten tomatoes can also provide many interesting findings.

Task

In this project, you are required to do

1. Exploratory Data Analysis
2. Understanding what type content is available in different countries
3. Is Netflix has increasingly focusing on TV rather than movies in recent years.
4. Clustering similar content by matching text-based features

Attribute Information

1. show_id : Unique ID for every Movie / Tv Show
2. type : Identifier - A Movie or TV Show
3. title : Title of the Movie / Tv Show
4. director : Director of the Movie
5. cast : Actors involved in the movie / show
6. country : Country where the movie / show was produced
7. date_added : Date it was added on Netflix
8. release_year : Actual Release year of the movie / show
9. rating : TV Rating of the movie / show
10. duration : Total Duration - in minutes or number of seasons
11. listed_in : Genre
12. description: The Summary description

Inference:

It seems like words like "Love", "Man", "World", "Story", "Christmas" are very common in titles.

I have suprised to see "Christmas" ocuured so many time . The reason maybe those movies released on the month of december, but I don't have any information about the release month of movies that's why I am not able to check my hypothesis.

• 6. Applying Different Clustering Algorithms

Clustering -

Clustering can be considered the most important unsupervised learning problem; so, as every other problem of this kind, it deals with finding a structure in a collection of unlabeled data. A loose definition of clustering could be "the process of organizing objects into groups whose members are similar in some way". A cluster is therefore a collection of objects which are "similar" between them and are "dissimilar" to the objects belonging to other clusters.

• Five(5) Clustering algo I have used

Silhouette score is used to evaluate the quality of clusters created using clustering algorithms such as K-Means in terms of how well samples are clustered with other samples that are similar to each other. The Silhouette score is calculated for each sample of different clusters. To calculate the Silhouette score for each observation/data point, the following distances need to be found out for each observations belonging to all the clusters:

- Mean distance between the observation and all other data points in the same cluster. This distance can also be called a mean intra-cluster distance. The mean distance is denoted by a.
- Mean distance between the observation and all other data points of the next nearest cluster. This distance can also be called a mean nearest-cluster distance. The mean distance is denoted by b.

The Silhouette Coefficient for a sample is $S = \frac{(b-a)}{\max(a,b)}$.

• 6.2 Elbow Method

In [ ]: sum_of_sq_dist = {}
for k in range(1,15):
    km = KMeans(n_clusters= k, init= 'k-means++', max_iter= 1000)
    km = km.fit(X)
    sum_of_sq_dist[k] = km.inertia_

#Plot the graph for the sum of square distance values and Number of Clusters
sns.pointplot(x = list(sum_of_sq_dist.keys()), y = list(sum_of_sq_dist.values()))
plt.xlabel('Number of Clusters(k)') plt.ylabel('Sum of Square Distances')
plt.title('Elbow Method For Optimal k')
plt.show()

Will be using 3 clusters

In [ ]: kmeans = KMeans(n_clusters = 3 ) kmeans.fit(X)
y_kmeans= kmeans.predict(X)
```

In [ ]: plt.figure(figsize=(10 , 6)) plt.title('description and listed_in') plt.scatter(X[:, 0], X[:, 1], c=y_kmeans, s=50, cmap='spring') centers = kmeans.cluster_centers_

plt.scatter(centers[:, 0], centers[:, 1], c='red', s=200, alpha=0.5)
```

• 6.3 DBSCAN

In [ ]: from sklearn.cluster import DBSCAN
from sklearn import metrics
y_pred = DBSCAN(eps=0.5, min_samples=15).fit_predict(X)
plt.figure(figsize=( 8 , 5 ))
plt.scatter(X[:,1], X[:,2], c=y_pred)

Out [182]: <matplotlib.collections.PathCollection at 0x7fc2a63c3750>

The black colour dots(*) are noise

• 6.4 Dendrogram

In [ ]: # Let's import sch import scipy.cluster.hierarchy as sch
plt.figure(figsize=(13,8))
dendrogram = sch.dendrogram(sch.linkage(X, method = 'single')) plt.title('Dendrogram')
plt.xlabel('Content')
plt.ylabel('Euclidean Distances')
plt.show() # find largest vertical distance we can make without crossing any other horizontal line

The number of clusters will be the number of vertical lines which are being intersected by the line drawn using the threshold

No. of Cluster = 3

6.5 AgglomerativeClustering

In [ ]: # Let's import AgglomerativeClustering from sklearn.cluster import AgglomerativeClustering hc = AgglomerativeClustering(n_clusters = 2, affinity = 'euclidean', linkage = 'ward')
y_hc = hc.fit_predict(X)

In [ ]: # Visualizing the clusters (three dimensions only)
plt.figure(figsize=(13,8))
plt.scatter(X[y_hc == 0, 0], X[y_hc == 0, 1], s = 100, c = 'red', label = '1') plt.scatter(X[y_hc == 1, 0], X[y_hc == 1, 1], s = 100, c = 'blue', label = '2')
plt.scatter(X[y_hc == 2, 0], X[y_hc == 2, 1], s = 100, c = 'green', label = '3')

plt.title('Clusters of content')

plt.legend()
plt.show()

Conclusion

1. Director and cast contains a large number of null values so we will drop these 2 columns .

2. In this dataset there are two types of contents where 30.86% includes TV shows and the remaining 69.14% carries Movies.
3. We have reached a conclusion from our analysis from the content added over years that Netflix is focusing movies and TV shows (Fom 2016 data we get to know that Movies is increased by 80% and TV shows is increased by 73% compare)
4. From the dataset insights we can conclude that the most number of TV Shows released in 2017 and for Movies it is 2020
5. On Netflix USA has the largest number of contents. And most of the countries preferred to produce movies more than TV shows.
6. Most of the movies are belonging to 3 categories
7. TOP 3 content categories are International movies , dramas , comedies.
8. In text analysis (NLP) I used stop words, removed punctuations , stemming & TF-IDF vectorizer and other functions of NLP.
9. Applied different clustering models like Kmeans, hierarchical, Agglomerative clustering, DBSCAN on data we got the best cluster arrangements. 10.By applying different clustering algorithms to our dataset .we get the optimal number of cluster is equal to 3

Futue Work

From this clustering analysis we can create Netflix movies and tv shows recommendation system & also we can use topic modeling.
